PUBLIC MUSICALE

The famous reader, Mrs. Coral Harrison Sloan, has also consented to add to the pleasures of the evening. Miss Gertrude Champlain, pupil of Brahm van den Berg, will play. Also Miss Martha Porter, who always charms her audience with her delightful violin, will give two numbers. Following the program a social hour will be enjoyed while dainty maids serve delicious punch.

Frequent communications find their way to our desk, signed, "A Friend," "A Reader," "A Subscriber," etc. Regardless of the merit of these articles they find their way into the waste basket. Anyone who has not the stamina to submit his name, at least for the editor's information, if not for publication, will not be recognized.

TROPICO LADIES VISIT CRITTENTON HOME—CLUB TO GIVE TEA

Despite the inclemency of the weather and the showers that frequently refreshed the earth Wednesday, a number of ladies of N. P. Banks Corps and friends attended the all-day meeting of the auxiliary of the Florence Crittenton Home, of which Miss Cora Hickman is secretary and treasurer.

The ladies with well filled lunch boxes and arms filled with roses arrived at the handsome new Florence Crittenton Home, located at Avenue Thirty-three and Griffin avenue, about 11 o'clock. The ladies proved themselves adepts with the needle, for many were the buttons that were replaced on numerous small garments, and the long rents that were sewed and the dear little stockings that were darned and laid away for use of the children of the home.

Following luncheon a splendid program was rendered. Mrs. Estelle Lawton Lindsey gave a most interesting and instructive talk upon the subject of a woman judge and woman jurors in the juvenile courts.

An inspection of the new home and the nursery was very much enjoyed by the ladies.

Those who enjoyed Wednesday as the guests of the auxiliary were Mrs. David H. Imler, Mrs. Margaret Jenkins, Mrs. Thomas Atkinson, Mrs. Jessie Hudson, Mrs. Mary Borthick, Mrs. Nina Richards, Mrs. Augusta Haefke, Mrs. George Peck, Mrs. Wm. A. Hough, Mrs. Delia Hapgood, Mrs. William Tiffany, Mrs. Burt Burlingham, Mrs. Samuel A. Pollock, Mrs. Effie Ripley, Mrs. Cordelia Augustus, Mrs. Harriet Hamilton, Mrs. Julina Hayes, Mrs. Mae Henry, Mrs. R. W. Meeker, Mrs. C. C. Rittenhouse, Mrs. Elizabeth Kasseall and Mrs. L. E. Keeley.

The literature section of the Tropico Thursday Afternoon club, of which Mrs. Wayland Brown is chairman, will hold a Shakespeare tea in K. of P. hall on San Fernando road Friday afternoon, April 23, in celebration of Shakespeare's birthday anniversary.

Through the co-operation of Mr. S. E. Busser of the Santa Fe reading room system, Prof. S. H. Clark, head of the department of public speaking of the Chicago University, will be present and give a talk on Shakespeare and the human heart, illustrating by selections from Shakespeare's plays. Prof. Clark is author of several books and is director of the New York chautauqua. Professor Clark is very popular throughout the eastern cities both as a lecturer and reader, and is one of the best-known scholars of Shakespeare in the United States. Mr. Busser will be present and introduce Mr. Clark. Mrs. Edgar Stuart Ayres will render a violin solo, accompanied by Mrs. Edgar Frye.

Following the program tea and wafers will be served. It is earnestly requested that a large audience greet this renowned Shakespeare scholar and all are invited.

Ray Burlingame of Boone, Iowa, is the house guest of his aunt, Miss Mattie Bardwell of South Glendale avenue. Mr. Burlingame contemplates remaining several months in Tropico.

Chapter A-H of the P. E. O. will meet at the home of Mrs. Wattles, Glendale avenue, Friday, April 23. All members are requested to be there promptly at 12 o'clock.

BARACAS CONDUCT MEETING

In the absence of the pastor, Rev. Bede A. Johnson, of the First Methodist church, the prayer meeting on Wednesday evening was conducted by the Baraca boys. Mr. W. A. Goss, former teacher of the Baracas, led the meeting, which was one of the best held this year. Some of the Baracas are in the gospel team of the church and it is needless to say there was a great meeting Wednesday evening.

SAN FERNANDO VALLEY ORANGES

The suggestion was made Wednesday by a citizen of Glendale that the fruit growers of the San Fernando valley should select a name for the oranges that will designate them as having been grown in the San Fernando valley. The citizen suggested further that the oranges grown in this valley have a much richer flavor than oranges grown elsewhere in California. Riverside oranges have a national reputation, and why not give the name, "San Fernando valley," to all oranges grown in this valley, and there will be a demand for oranges bearing that name. The scheme will also serve to advertise this particular section of California.

LET'S GO

"Polly of the Circus" is to be given its initial presentation at the hands of the Alumni association of the Glendale Union High school tonight. Having wound up actual rehearsal two days ago, the local actors are marking time until the rise of the curtain on the first act.

There is more than one reason why this production should be of interest to the people of Glendale and vicinity. The fact that this is to be put on in benefit of the High School scholarship fund is in itself enough to make the enterprise worth while. Then the play, fresh from the professional boards, deals with a moot question which is one of exceeding interest. Furthermore, the people who play in it are well known locally. They have made this neighborhood their home. They are interested in the affairs of this community and many of us know them and are interested in them. They have been chosen for their parts because of past performances. In the true sense of the word they cannot be called amateurs. They should be able to do justice to the material at hand. Attention has been given, not only to the bringing out of the major features, but to the little things. Often success lies in the details.

These people are giving the show; they are expecting the patronage of the people of Glendale. "The play's the thing." The Palace Grand Theatre is the place. Let's go.

ILLINOIS CITY HAS MAYORESS

Mrs. A. R. Canfield, 74 years of age was elected Mayor of Warren, Ill., on Tuesday, the first woman mayor to be elected in that state. Mrs. Canfield was formerly in the employ of the Pinkerton detective agency and learned a few tricks that will be of use to her in her new office. She has announced her intention of cleaning out all graft in the city government as well as cleaning up the city generally. She says she is not out for the money there is in the job,—$1 per month.

Warren's newly elected mayor is well known in suffrage circles in that state. She has lived in Warren for thirty four years. For the past twenty four years she conducted a millinery store in Warren.

INFLUENCE OF THE FILMS

Numberless things have been charged up to the moving pictures since they first came upon the scene a few years ago.

It was said they would make serious inroads into the receipts of the high priced theatres, and they have; that they would prove great educators of the people, and they have; that they would increase the cost of living, and in a small way they have; and that they would incite youthful minds evilly, and but for the excellent censorship that has come perhaps that would have been the result.

It has remained, however, for someone to discover that also they have cut largely into the consumption of tobacco and reduced the patronage of saloons.

Formerly the chief patronage of the moving picture house came from the women and children; but as the business has developed and the quality of the productions improved the attendance of men has enormously increased; and so he argues, the time these men who go to the picture houses have to smoke and drink have been so materially shortened as to compel a curtailment in the net annual consumption of both tobacco and liquor.

Tobacco, a well known trade paper, meets the argument by recalling that much the same thing was said when the bicycle craze took hold of the country and that it also was predicted that general use of the automobile would cut down the number of cigars consumed; and adds that in neither case did annual figures sustain the argument.

But the cases are not exactly parallel. So many more millions are going to picture shows than ever rode bicycles or can afford to own automobiles, that it would not do to say off-hand that this discovery of a new influence exerted by the films is without merit.—New Orleans States.

For swindling a widow out of $2.25—all she had—a fellow has been sent to jail for six months. In instances, the law is inadequate, however carefully framed. This sentence is too short by at least ninety-nine and a half years.

NORTH GLENDALE

ITEMS OF GENERAL AND SOCIAL HAPPENINGS IN THE FOOT-HILL COMMUNITY

Mr. and Mrs. George P. Rueter of 930 Fairview avenue enjoyed the pleasure of entertaining as their guests at dinner Tuesday evening, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Hearnshaw of 1510 Lomita avenue. Mr. Hearnshaw expects to leave for Chicago Friday morning, going via the Salt Lake and Rio Grande route, planning to be gone at least a month, part of which time will be spent with his parents and other relatives in Chicago.

Miss Lucile Pittman of 1001 N. Pacific avenue, with Miss Ruby Borthick, Miss Carrie Cornwell, Miss May Cornwe l, Miss Freda Borthick of Glendale and Miss Faith Sence of Burbank were guests at a charming announcement party last Saturday afternoon in Pasadena when Miss Lucie Beetannier, well known as a former resident of Glendale entertained some twenty of her girl friends and announced that in early June she would become the bride of Mr. Bert Hubbard, a prominent business man of El Centro.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Parsonage of Lincoln Place returned Monday from a week's visit with Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Markham of National City. During the week, the party enjoyed going to the fair in San Diego, reporting the exhibits and buildings very beautiful and very interesting.

Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Stanton of Arden avenue with Mr. and Mrs. Luther D. Eastman of 1621 Burchett St. and Mrs. Lillian Judd of 1095 San Rafael St. as their guests and Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Snyder, also Mr. and and Mrs. Dell Pugsley of Los Angeles formed a party of motorists who enjoyed a trip to San Gabriel canyon last Sunday where they spent a most delightful day in the open.

Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Bierbower of 922 Fairview avenue entertained at a daintily appointed dinner Tuesday evening. Begonias and ferns were used as a centerpiece on the table where covers were laid for four, the guests who enjoyed the hospitality of the occasion being Mr. and Mrs. Jack Wheeler of Los Angeles.

Mr. J. W. Merritt of 914 Fairview avenue has purchased the fine lot adjoining his home place from Mr. Julius Kranz and will have it set out to a choice variety of fruit trees.

Miss Lucile Pittman of 1001 North Pacific avenue, Miss Blanche Davenport of Tropico, Mr. Bill Williamson and Mr. Edward Duffy of Los Angeles formed a merry party who motored beyond the Malibou ranch last Sunday where they enjoyed a picnic dinner and spent the afternoon fishing for trout in one of the mountain streams.

COUTELENCE QUARTET COMING

Mrs. Dora L. Gibson of the high school music department is planning a musical feast for her pupils next Tuesday afternoon in the form of a concert of Chamber music by the Coutelence string quartet of Los Angeles. A fee of ten cents will be charged to this concert, which is not, however, being given for the purpose of making money. Mrs. Gibson has arranged for this concert because the Coutelence quartet is one of the strongest musical combinations of the kind in Los Angeles and she wishes to place before her pupils the best in music, in order that they may ever have before them an ideal. A good time is anticipated for next Tuesday.

RAINFALL THREE-FOURTHS INCH

The rainfall of Wednesday, according to the report of H. E. Bartlett of 101 South Brand boulevard, Glendale, was three-fourths of an inch. The rainfall is greater thus far in April this year than it was in April a year ago.

MRS. VENABLE PROUD OF PRIZE

One of the proudest women in Glendale these days is Mrs. J. W. Venable of 128 North Kenwood street who may be seen driving about the streets of Glendale in her new Chandler Six car, which she won in the Times contest that closed last week. Mrs. Venable received next to the highest number of votes in the contest and had her choice of the Chandler Six and an Apperson Jack Rabbit. Her choice was the Chandler Six and a mighty good looking car it is.

The prizes were presented on Saturday and each of the proud winners had her picture taken in her car.

Mrs. Venable wishes to extend her thanks to all who assisted her in winning this valuable prize.

ARRESTED FOR GIVING FULL MEASURE

For the first time in the history of commerce in America, a man has been arrested for giving the scriptural amount of the purchase to the buyer, "full measure, heaped up, pressed down and running over," according to the Pacific Coast Packer.

Recently Benton F. Pierce, manager of the Produce Distributors, a fruit and produce brokerage company of Seattle, was taken into custody by J. P. Worden, an inspector in the municipal weights and measures department, on the charge that he had violated the provisions of the ordinance which governs the weighing and measuring of all commodities. The point in the controversy is whether a broker, wholesaler or merchant in selling a box of strawberries on the representation that it contains a pint measure, when in reality it holds more than a pint, but is sold at no additional cost, is causing an infraction of the city ordinance and is liable to arrest. Police Judge John B. Gordon took the matter under advisement.

Alpheus Byers, attorney for the defendant, contended that if a merchant wanted to give a customer a little extra measure he was not violating the law. Inspector Worden took the position that, although the purchasers are not being swindled when they receive an excess in measure, the official sanction of such proposition will result in scores of different sizes of boxes on the market with no set standard, which is a violation of law.

Mr. Pearce said he was acting as a distributor for a Texas firm. His boxes are three and three-tenths inches bigger than the Seattle standard of 37 cubic inches.

A farmer went into a store to get footwear for his daughters.

"I want some heavy shoes for outdoor work," he explained.

"Do you want them for the girls to milk in?" asked the clerk, who thought he ought to say something and didn't know what.

"No," replied the farmer, gravely. "I have buckets for that."

WHO'S PAYING THE FREIGHT?

When you know there is a man in your crowd who is spending more than his income will allow, stop and think of who "pays the freight."

It would be rather embarrassing for you to go to him and tell him what you think about the course he is following, and yet it might be the best thing which could happen to him.

The trouble with most of us is that we slap the "good fellow" on the back and encourage him to spend more. He likes the crowd and he will "hold up his end" in some way; and it may not be an honest course for him, says the Herald.

The desire to mingle with crowds which are too expensive in their tastes is the cause of many a downfall; in fact, in ninety-nine cases out of a hundred when the trusted man steals from his employer the reason may be traced to the influence of extravagant companions.

When a man scatters more than he reaps, some one is going to come out in the hole. Who is paying the freight for some of the men in your crowd?

AN AMBITION TO SWELL

The desire of Los Angeles to expand has found expression in two measures that are now up to the governor, says the Long Beach Telegram. The scheme of consolidating the city and county government, however, died in the attempt to run the gauntlet. There is no particular wish that it rest in peace, but certainty that it will rest a long time. The bills that await signature provide for the annexation of non-contiguous towns, and of non-contiguous unincorporated territory. Thus Los Angeles is to be permitted to grow in spots, and intervening towns that decline to come in, assume the status of islands in an urban sea. They will be in Los Angeles, but not of it. And with the municipal waves lapping them on all sides, the apparent hope is that they will be washed in sooner or later. Indeed, the outlying territory is not actually to be joined to the city until the intervening population has seen the error of its ways and agreed to be the link. The affair is to be an engagement rather than a marriage, and an election upholding annexation might be regarded as the publishing of the banns. Any community desiring to honor itself by assuming part of the debt of Los Angeles is authorized by these bills to so declare by a majority vote. Thus it is to be seen that the expansionists have achieved at least a partial victory. If a town close by refuses to be annexed, pressure on the reluctant community will be felt from two sides, and in time, might be effective. While the period when Los Angeles will embrace all the area for which it yearns probably is very distant, the earnestness and persistence of that city will have to be admitted.

CONSIDERATE AND CAREFUL

Secretary of Labor William B. Wilson has done well to order more "considerate and careful" dealing with women and girls who come from other lands to settle in the United States. In the execution of a policy of administration designedly shaped to "humanize the law," it was inevitable that something should be done in this matter; for there have been detentions, arrests and arbitrary official acts by subordinates in days done by that have been nothing short of cruel.

In the first place, hereafter women who for any reason must be detained will be dealt with by women officers and during detention periods they will be properly housed and cared for under such conditions as will safeguard their interests and not offend their instincts, says the Christian Science Monitor. If the federal government has no such facilities at any port of entry, it will fall back on private philantropic agencies until the immigrant stations are suitably equipped.

If, after investigation, the detained woman or girl is admitted to the country, special care is to be taken by the women inspectors to see that she finds her kinsfolk or friends or her prearranged destination, with dispatch and in safety. If she is deported, then her best interests while enroute home and after she lands abroad will be guarded with the same solicitude and vigilance. Arrangements also will have been made for supervision during the voyage and for a welcome from foreign women's organizations.

Be the influx of immigrants large or small after the present war, it is likely to have a higher proportion of women than in the past. The reason is too obvious to make explanation necessary.

Exceptionally timely, therefore, is the finer and more beneficent inspection policy just outlined. Whenever, as at Ellis island since Frederick C. Howe became administrative chief, there has been a broadening of the conception of official duty toward the newcomers, and enforcement of higher standards of good will and provision for the amenities, the results have been such as to cheer persons who believe that government is justified in precise proportion to its capacity to make collective power promote virtue, happiness and human brotherhood.

MATTER OF CHOICE

Jack Johnson, the colored prize-fighter, is said to have received $35,000 for his two hours in the ring at Havana.

Jess Willard, a white bruiser, who has saved the white race from the frightful fate of not having a bruiser equal to the colored bruiser, is said to have received from $25,000 to $30,000.

Those unctuous newspapers which evidence such distress over the payment of a few thousands of dollars to Billy Sunday for weeks of powerful work for morals, religion and civic decency, will not find time to comment on the high pay of plug-uglies. Nor will they find time to comment on the relative value of the bruiser and the evangelist to a community. They will not have time to do so. They are too busy sneering at evangelistic efforts and too busy publishing the wonderful story of the prize ring. Generally when a reader finds a paper sneering at men engaged in evangelistic work it may be set down that the man behind the pen prefers the company of the Jack Johnsons and the Jess Willards to that of the Torreys and the Sundays. —Stockton Record.

When a reporter goes forth to see Japanese ships and declares that he has seen them, the fact that he can't get himself believed must shock his professional pride.

TREPANNING BY INDIANS

SAN DIEGO, April 22.—A party of eminent surgeons has just visited the San Diego exposition and are now going back to their homes thoroughly convinced that the delicate operation of trepanning the skull was performed successfully by the Peruvian Indians between 1200 and 1500 years ago. Proof that the art is an ancient one is at hand in the anthropological exhibit at the exposition. This exhibit is doing much to correct the present-day impression that trepanning is of comparatively recent discovery.

This exhibit of skulls and crude instruments with which the operation of trepanning was performed was gathered for the exposition in South America by Dr. Ales Hrdlicka, anthropologist of the United States national museum.

These Indians evidently were quarrelsome folk for the percentage of damaged or broken heads among their skeletal remains is very high. The injuries in these skulls were inflicted with such native weapons as the stone sling, star pointed mace and war club.

Primitive people are very careful observers of nature and these Indians undoubtedly observed that once in so often some warriors who had received an injury of the head recovered, instead of dying. After this observation it is agreed that the medicine men set about to assist nature in repairing the injury. This was accomplished by prying the displaced fragments into place and by digging out splintered bits of bone.

Among the Peruvian Indians the opening into the skull was made with the sharp edge of an obsidian or flint knife. This instrument was used with a to-and-fro sawing movement, cutting a narrow groove through both layers of the bone. Usually a pair of parallel grooves were cut, then another pair crossing the first set at right angles. When these four grooves had been deepened, until the entire thickness of the skull was penetrated, there was severed between the pairs of parallels a small quadrillateral piece of bone which was finally pried loose and removed. Then the operation was completed.

WORK HATRED

"The failure works in order to play. The success plays in order to work."

The speaker was Louis J. Horowitz of New York, builder of the Woolworth, Equitable and numberless other noted skyscrapers.

"Yes," he continued, "the successful man loves his work, and only plays or exercises to put himself in the best shape for it.

"A tramp was told that he could have a hot meal if he'd wheel snow in a wheelbarrow for some street cleaners.

"The tramp consented to this and set to work. But one of the street cleaners said to him:

" 'You're a queer wheelbarrow juggler.'

" 'How so, friend? In what way?" asked the tramp.

" 'Why,' said the street cleaner, 'you ought to push a wheelbarrow, not pull it.'

" 'Yes, I know,' said the tramp; 'but I can't stand the sight of the durn thing.' "

GOOD QUALITY OF STREET WORK

A few poorly built streets in Glendale and poorly built streets in all cities should be a warning to persons having in charge the construction of streets to construct only good streets.

A well constructed street will give satisfactory service for many years, while a poorly constructed street never gives good service, and has to be replaced in a few years.

DIFFERENCE IN CHILDREN

"Yes, indeed, there is a vast difference in children," replied grandmother. "Even children in the same family are so different. Some take such dainty care of the things they receive, that they have them from one year to the other, while others cannot have a toy a week without smashing it.

"I remember so well when your mother was a tot. She always kept such good care of everything. One time for her birthday she had received a beautiful doll, as well as our little neighbor, who had also been given a doll the week before. This little girl was very careless with her toys and her beautiful dollie had lost one arm, and her teeth were all knocked out.

" 'Oh, you naughty girlie,' said your mother, 'do you think the birthday man wants to bring you pretty presents 'way from toyland to have them smashed up as soon as his back is turned? I don't believe he will come and see you next year if that is the way you treat the things he brings you.'

" 'But I can't keep my toys as nice as you can,' said the little playmate, with a grieved expression on her face. 'Please tell me, won't you, how you keep your dollie so nice and clean and don't break it?'

" 'It is just 'cause I take good care of my things,' replied your mother. 'I always wash my hands when I pick up my dollie, and I don't go and run pins through my dollie's teeth to see whether they are in tight. Mamma tells me to handle things carefully and that's just what I do, and that's why I have pretty things, 'cause I keep them all.'

"That afternoon when the little playmate went home I heard her call to your mother: 'I've made up my mind that I am not going to stick any more pins in my dollie's mouth and I am going to wash my hands when I take her out for her walks, because I am tired of having mamma say I don't know how to take care of my things,' and away she scampered.

"Of course," continued grandmother, "a mother is largely responsible for the condition of her children's playthings. She should teach them to get nothing under foot and to put everything away at the close of day, or when done with it.

"A mother should train her child in the way it should go. Usually the way a child is taught to take care of her toys, that is the way she will take care of her clothes and her belongings when she grows up."

WILL REAP ITS SHARE

It doesn't require much of an optimist to predict that California will feel the results of general resumption of business in the country as quickly as any section. Whatever advantage attaches to the opening of the Panama canal has been partially postponed by the European war, but as far as purely domestic affairs are concerned, the re-opening of a factory in the East, or the accumulated results of a high-priced wheat crop, will produce a general effect in this state. It is difficult to see that with wheat bringing $1.50 a bushel thousands of farmers in the central and western states will remove their mortgages, add to their surplus account, and look with interest upon this climate and its possibilities for comfortable, enlightened home life. Iowa alone has furnished the Pacific states with thousands of her best citizenship, men who have gained their competence, and come here to make their investments and to enjoy what nature affords. This particular state is only an example of what is true of the entire agricultural section. The past year broke all records for crops and the prices gained for their sale surely will bring a new impetus for farther development in California. Nature has been kind even if war and legislation have contributed to interfere with our comfort. On the whole, we have reason to rejoice at our situation and to look forward with every hope for the bounties that soil and a fair measure of thrift make possible.—Long Beach Telegram.

THANKFUL FOR IT

Sergeant Pfiz believed in handling his men firmly. Pausing before one recruit, he eyed him sternly.

"Now, then, pull yourself together," he barked harshly; "you're standing all wrong! Your uniform's not put on right, your buttons are dirty and you are holding your rifle like a hay fork. Let's see if you can march. Right-about-face!"

The recruit stood stock still, and heaved a sigh of relief.

"Thank goodness," he said, with resignation, "I'm right about something, anyway!"—London Times.

SCOTCH PROFITS

"We have decided," said the head of a Glascow firm, "to conduct our business in future on the profit sharing principle. We shall begin at once on the basis of last year's results."

"We are delighted to hear it," replied the foreman, speaking for the men. "May we ask what were the last year's results?"

"We lost a thousand pounds," said the employer, "and, therefore, on the profit sharing principle, there will be a reduction of 10 per cent in your wages."—Dundee Advertiser.

Information is printed that this country is not to be allowed to serve as mediator. There is lack of evidence that a mediator is needed or that this country ever pined for the job.

We are advised that Mr. Paul Frank, a popular young grocery clerk for Kilborn and Peters, is now with the Protection Baking company of Los Angeles. The grocer's loss is the baker's gain. We are glad to see a young man advance. The saying is true in this case, "You can't keep a good man down."

Probably there is no grain of truth in the story that a regiment of French women has been organized for the purpose of actually fighting. If it is true, there is to be added to war a chapter of horrors, and there seems to be already as much horror as needs to be crowded into a conflict.

Liberty Bell ought to come out this way, unless there is danger of its arriving in two pieces.

WAS IT A THREAT?

"That Patrick Mulligan is a funny fellow. I can't quite understand him"

"Why? What's he been up to now?"

"Well, you see, he and I were having a little argument at his house the other evening, and then I offered to prove that he was a fool, in black and white."

"Yes, well what about it?"

"Well, up to then we had confined ourselves to slightly raised voices, but when I said that he flared up immediately.

"'Prove Oi'm a fool in black and white, will ye?' he yelled. 'Well, if ye don't clear out of this house at once Oi'll prove in black, blue and red, it's a falsehood ye're telling!'"

POOR EGG!

"Here's a Swiss named Egg who lives in New York, petitioning to have his name changed."

"Sort of an egg shake, eh! What's the trouble?"

"He and his family have four children, and his family is constantly referred to as the half dozen Eggs. He claims his yolk is too heavy to be borne."

"Why doesn't he lay for his tormentors?"

"It appears that he did once and got beaten, whipped to a froth. Poor Egg could barely scramble home."—Boston Transcript.

"Where was the fire in town last night?"

"I think it must have been the library."

"What makes you think that?"

"Well, I heard the smoke was issuing in volumes."—London Telegraph.

There is nothing to worry about even if the women bent on a peace meeting at The Hague can't get into Holland. A meeting of the precise character contemplated represents just at this time a very reasonable synonym for nothing.

Prof. Coburn says that in the Augustianian age there was a plutocrat who spent $90,000,000 in a year sustaining his position with the smart set. Doubtless the professor believes this, showing the difference between a professor and the average citizen.

There will be little American tourist travel in Europe this year. Europe's loss, in this respect, will be California's gain, in large measure. From present indications more globe-trotters will be in this state this summer than ever before in a single season.

The economic sore indicated by chronic unemployment conditions in this country cannot be salved over successfully with the pauperizing of able-bodied men in the name of charity. Charity should be for the helpless, not for those who are able to help themselves if given a fair chance to do so.

Enterprising Americans are just beginning to exploit the mineral treasures of the Andes. But the enterprising Incas worked those treasure deposits many centuries ago before the white man even had dreamed of there being a continent on this side of the earth. DRUGLESS ACT PASSES SENATE

SACRAMENTO, April 22.—After a fight running into the afternoon, the senate Wednesday passed the Scott drugless practice act by a vote of 22 to 15. All methods and manner of healing the sick were discussed and sharp tilts occurred during the debate.

Senator Scott had an uphill fight from the start, his bill having come out of committee without recommendation, but he won by persistent battling against the advocates of the state board of medical examiners from whose jurisdiction the drugless practitioners will be removed by the bill just passed.

Drugless practitioners have for years been endeavoring to free themselves from the jurisdiction of a state medical board composed of doctors of opposite medical schooling and opinions and who were accused of discriminating against them. A law similar to the Scott bill, submitted by initiative petition on the ballot last November, failed to carry. The Scott bill has been altered to meet many objections to the measure voted down by the people.

The Scott bill seeks to raise the standard of drugless practitioners so that they will be as proficient in the practice of their professions as are the doctors who use drugs. Their efficiency, however, will be gauged by a state board consisting of doctors of their own method of healing rather than medical men of different training.

CONSISTENCY OF PRESIDENT

The Washington correspondents, having little else to engage their attention, are proceeding to rule the United States out of the peace negotiations that are to come in Europe in the fullness of time. They tell us, ex cathedra, that this country can have no important part in mediating between the belligerents because, they aver, each and every one of the combatant nations either has a grudge against this country or else has selfish motives in not permitting a neutral power to act as monitor. All of which serves for dull-time reading, but has no significance whatever, and no element of finality. The evolutions of time alone will show what part the United States is to play in the restoration of peace to Europe. This much is certain—President Wilson is endeavoring, to his utmost, to keep this country in such attitude toward the warring nations as to make our mediation, at the proper time, absolutely consistent and effective.

OPPORTUNITY AT OUR DOOR

In the Colorado river valley, in California, they are raising more than two bales of cotton to the acre, on the average. It is superior in quality to much of the cotton produced in the Southern states and the yield per acre is much greater than in the most favored sections of Dixie. An important industry along this line may be built up in this state and Arizona along the Colorado.

SUBLIME GRANDEUR

The Yosemite promises to become familiar to more sightseers than ever now that the national government and the counties adjacent to this region of marvels are moving jointly to the opening of new roads thereto. The Yosemite is unique—there is no combination of scenic marvels just like it in all the earth. It should be made as easily accessible as possible to the multitudes.

SHOULD BE HELD TO ACCOUNT

There should be a lesson in precautionary prudence in the deplorable tragedy of the sunken submarine, F-4. If it be true that this little craft was sent into maneuvers when it was known to be unseaworthy, those responsible should be held to account. There should be very strict rules governing the operation of these vessels, extremely perilous to human life as they are, at best.

PRETTY THIN

"My dear," said a thin little Brighton man to his wife, "this paper says that there is a woman down in Devonshire who goes out and chops wood with her husband."

"Well, what of it? I think she could easily do it if he is as thin as you are. I have often thought of using you to peel potatoes with."

The thin man laid down his paper with a sigh that sounded like the squeak of a penny whistle.—London Answers.

England seems to have set its foot on the hub of the water wagon and then slipped off.

Virtue is safe only when it is inspired.—Dr. Charles H. Parkhurst.

The Bible has stood the test of the ages past. It will stand the test of the ages to come.

This country should not permit itself to become the nursery of involuntary idleness. The conditions that force men, eager to work, into unemployment should be remedied.

No young person should be misled into the folly of conceiving education to be the proper means of leading to an easy-berth existence. Education is not designed to eliminate work from our lives, but to make our work more efficient and more useful.
